

U. S. Agrees to Slash Forces if Soviet Will

PARIS (AP) — The United States has agreed to slash its armed forces to 2,100,000 men if the Soviet Union does the same, informed sources said today.

The Western Allies were to meet again today to put the final touches to a package plan they will present to the Soviet Union when 10-nation disarmament talks open in Geneva Tuesday.

Informed sources said the manpower ceiling would be a highlight of a three-part scheme proposed to the Communist bloc for reducing military forces and ending the nuclear weapons race.

The United States, Britain, Canada, France and Italy have been working out difference to present a united front at Geneva.

The Western plan calls for three main stages:

1. Establishment of an international disarmament agency to centralize all records of armaments and troops maintained by all nations.

2. Agreement by all nations involved to stop producing nuclear weapons and to convert materials on hand to "atoms for peace" program; reduce the armed forces of the Soviet Union and the United States.

3. End of production of nuclear weapons and ballistic missiles with a military use; and eventually reduction of armies of all nations to the lowest level needed for security.

The west will come up against a rival disarmament plan authored by Nikita Khrushchev. The Soviet Premier wants total disarmament, with the first stage limiting U.S., the Soviet Union and Red Chinese forces to 1,700,000 each and Britain and France to 650,000 each.

The Soviet Union now has 3,623,000 men in uniform, but Khrushchev has said 1,200,000 will be demobilized within the next year or two. The U.S. Defense Department last December reported the American armed forces at 2,500,817 men.

Change in Dam Design Discouraged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army Engineers have given scant encouragement to an Arkansas delegation that is seeking a change in design of the Greers Ferry Dam so as to avoid jeopardizing fishing in the White River.

The group, representing the White and Red Rivers Protective Assn., met yesterday with Maj. Gen. E. C. Itschner, chief of Army Engineers. Earlier they discussed the problem with Arkansas members of Congress.

What the group sought was a change in design of the dam so that warm water from the top of the reservoir would be released for power generation and other purposes rather than cold water from lower levels in the reservoir. Those attending the conference said Itschner pointed out that the change in design would cost a million dollars in addition to heavy claims the contractor might make because of delays in the construction, which now is under way.

Itschner warned that the added costs possibly could alter the benefit-cost ratio to such an extent that the project no longer would be economically feasible.

However, those at the conference said, Itschner did not think there might be other possible solutions to the problem—such as a low dam downstream or some means of aerating the reservoir water.

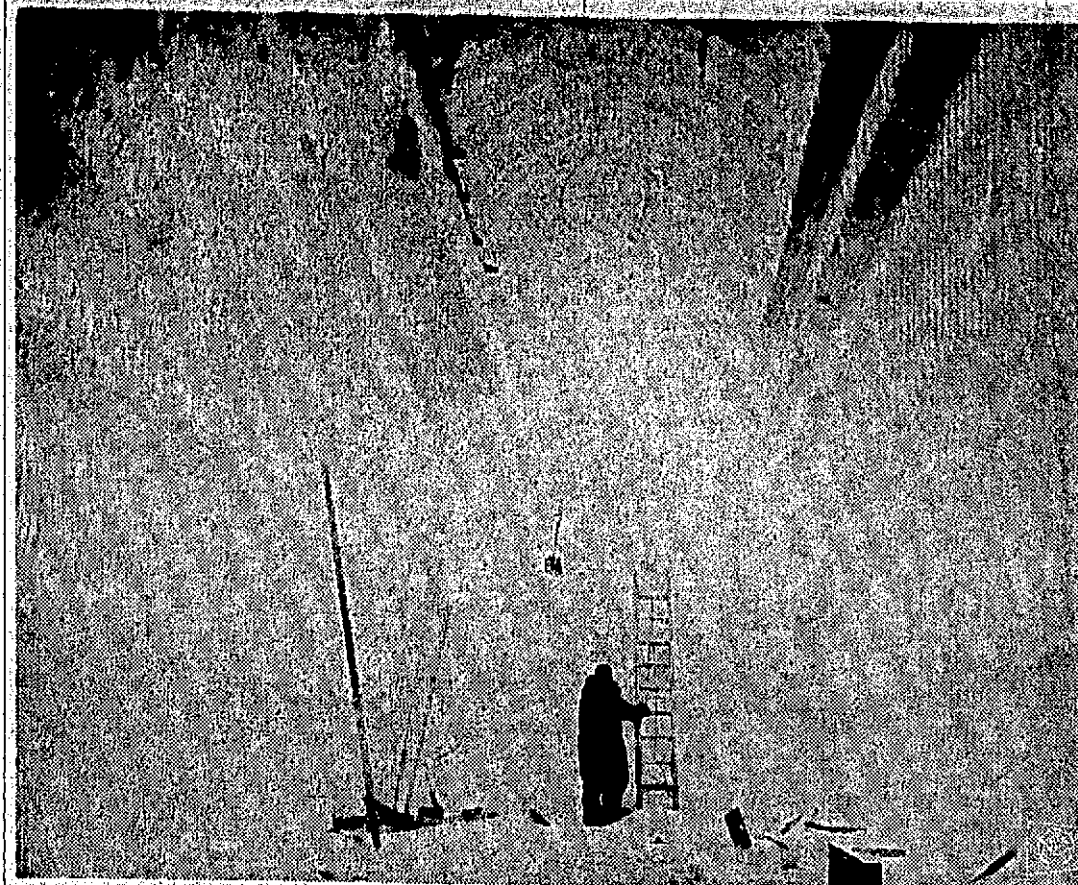

Itschner said he plans a trip to Arkansas next week and while there will visit Greers Ferry for an on-the-spot inspection. The complaint of fishermen is that after construction of other big dams on the White River and tributaries warm water fish disappear from downstream areas. The Arkansas group is fearful the added cold water from Greers Ferry will further aggravate the problem.

Here from Arkansas were William Church, De Valls Bluff, president of the river association; W. M. Apple, Little Rock, Raymond Farris, Bisbee; Dr. Rex Hancock, Stuttgart; Charles Alter, De Witt, and John Eldridge, Augusta.

Greers Ferry is being built on the Little Red River, a tributary of the White, near Heber Springs.

Weather

Arkansas — Partly cloudy, continued rather cold Saturday with highest 40 to 50. Warmer Sunday.

An Army engineer stands in a snow room carved in Greenland's icecap 100 miles north of Thule Air Force Base. A team of 100 scientists, engineers and soldiers will live in rooms and tunnels during the winter of 1960-61. They will study problems of living, working or fighting in one of the world's harshest environments.

No Settlement of Guild Strike

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The two sides agreed to talk things over today but there was no sign of an imminent settlement of the four-day-old actors' strike.

A meeting between representatives of the Screen Actors Guild and the Assn. of Motion Picture Producers was arranged at the request of federal mediator Jules Medoff. But association sources said this would be only the first of a series of meetings, so apparently there was no hope of settling the dispute immediately.

The principal issue is the actors' demand for a share of profits from the sale of post-1948 movies, to television.

Moon to Wear a Strange Reddish Cloak

NEW YORK (AP) — The moon will wear a strange coppery red cloak early Sunday.

It will be passing through the earth's shadow in a total eclipse of the moon beginning at 2:41 a. m., EST, and lasting until 4:15 a. m. For viewers on the Pacific Coast, the eclipse thus starts just before midnight Saturday.

Lunar eclipses occur when the moon is on the opposite side of the earth from the sun, and soars through the earth's great conical shadow, cast by the sun, extending about 860,000 miles into space.

The earth's shadow is not strong enough of course to blot out the moon. But in the total phase of the eclipse, the moon assumes a weird red color, caused by bending of the longer or red wavelengths of sunlight as they pass through the earth's atmosphere.

Weather permitting, the eclipse will be visible throughout North and South America, the west coasts of Europe and North Africa, northeastern tip of Asia, and parts of Antarctica, reports Joseph M. Chamberlain, chairman of the American Museum-Hayden Planetarium here.

Court Upholds Ruling Against Hope Publisher

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Tax Court ruled Friday an Arkansas publisher shouldn't have taken a federal income tax deduction for his expenses in circulating a petition for a referendum on a state law.

It upheld a ruling by the Internal Revenue Service that Alex H. Washburn owed $2,015 for 1955. Washburn is publisher and editor of the Hope, Ark., Star.

The Arkansas Legislature in 1955 exempted livestock and poultry feed from a state sales tax. Washburn, the court said, spent $6,024 in circulating a petition for a referendum on the exemption act.

The court said in its opinion Washburn felt that if the feed exemption from the then 2 per cent sales tax should continue, an increase in tax on other goods ultimately would result and cause buyers in his area to go to Texas, which had no sales tax.

DeAnn 4-H Club, Organized in 1957, Has Grown Steadily From 10 to 22 Members

Ten enthusiastic boys and girls joined together to organize the DeAnn 4-H Club on Oct. 7, 1957. Officers elected at the first meeting were president, Kaye Burke; vice president, Carolyn Willis; secretary, Jimmy Carver; reporter, Irma Mae Avery; recreational leader, Linda Roberts; song leader, Patsy Roberts and adult leaders for the club were Mrs. Roy Burke and Mrs. Vernon Avery.

The club has grown to a membership of 22, ranging in age from 9 to 18. Other adult leaders working with the club for 1960 include Mrs. Bedie Carver, Mrs. John Lloyd, Mrs. DeVaugh Samuel and Dee Coffee.

Officers for 1960 are president, Kaye Burke; vice president, Jimmy Carver; secretary treasurer, Patsy Roberts; reporter, David Samuel; song leader, Linda Roberts; recreational leader, Becky Willis.

The DeAnn 4-H Club meets the first Monday night of each month at the community club house.

There have been many interesting meetings on projects such as basket weaving, making vases from bottles which were enamelled then covered with crushed egg shell and glitter, snack trays from oil can lids and neck pillows for a local rest home. Demonstrations were given by Becky Willis on "Salads and ways to make a table more attractive" with vegetables such as celery, carrots, radishes, etc., Charles Arnold gave a demonstration on "Gun Safety."

The recreational leaders have games, contests, ping pong, parties and picnics planned for the monthly meetings. In 1958 at the Southwest District Livestock Show the DeAnn 4-H'ers participated in the "Share The Fun" festival talent with a pantomime number "Jailhouse Rock," by Bruce Burke, Jimmy Carver, Linda Roberts, Penny Burke, Dick Willis, Judy Samuel and Barbara Jean Avery.

The Judy HD council meeting at Palmos had the DeAnn 4-H'ers present "Jailhouse Rock," a hula dance and a playlet "Open a can of beans."

At the livestock show in 1959 Judy Samuel, Becky Willis, Kaye Burke, Patsy Roberts, Linda Roberts and Brenda Faulkner presented a spanish dance.

Those who won awards in the poultry exhibits were Anstey Willett, Dick Willis and Jimmy Carver. Kaye Burke was selected the champion 4-H girl in Hempstead County in 1958. She attended the 13th annual 4-H Club Congress in Little Rock, Nov. 14 and 15.

At Fayetteville in 1957 she won third on handicraft with an electric lamp made from a kerosene lamp. The lamp shade was made of rolled, colored magazine pages. Kaye received an electric mixer for achievements in her 4-H Club work. In addition to this, she has been awarded four blue, one red, and two white ribbons on entries in the Third District Livestock Show.

Rockefeller Heads Industrial Group

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Winthrop Rockefeller was re-elected chairman of the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission during a routine meeting here today.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus Monday named Rockefeller to a new term on the AIDC. The chairmanship is up to the commission.

Ministers, W. Memphis Official Split

WEST MEMPHIS, Ark. (AP) — The reform-bent Ministerial Alliance here cracked wide open yesterday in a heated session with city officials when one of the ministers designated dancing as a sin.

It happened during a public hearing of the West Memphis Ministerial Alliance's charges that the city is filled with gambling, prostitution and illegal recreation.

The spark was a complaint by a minister that the city allows high school students to hold dances at the city-owned Community House.

"I don't know what you fellows think about dancing," began the Rev. Earl White, pastor of Trinity Baptist Church, "but I'm telling you it's wrong."

"I believe in dancing," interrupted Mayor Howell B. Price. He added that high school students could continue to use the Community House for dances and "the only way to get me out is to beat me at the polls."

"(Dancing) ought not to be done," replied White. He was supported by the Rev. W. B. Sawyer, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, who said:

"Mayor, all residents in West Memphis pay taxes and that means tax money goes to support that thing."

At this point, the Rev. Dan Robinson, alliance secretary, leaped up.

"From this moment on, Dan Robinson and the First Methodist Church are not part of the Ministerial Alliance," he said. "We cannot agree. We're different. I don't want to be tarred with the same brush that some of these will be sooner or later. You have $104.34 on deposit in the bank. You can just elect a new secretary."

"And that's the same here," said the Rev. Fred Kneipp, rector of Holy Cross Episcopal Church.

The meeting broke up soon after. A Presbyterian, a Methodist, two Assembly of God and three Baptist ministers said they would keep the alliance in operation.

Admits to Hiding Child's Body

THORNTON, Colo. (AP) — A woman who is expecting her ninth child admitted to police Thursday that she had discarded the body of her 3-year old daughter in a trash barrel and watched a city crew haul it away.

Margaret Martinez, 29, said the child, Rosemary, had died in her crib one Saturday morning last October.

Her story emerged amid tears after officers had discovered two of the surviving seven children in starved conditions. They are Raymond, 9, and Linda, 5.

Mrs. Martinez, who is 5 feet 2 and weighs 170 pounds, was jailed at Brighton, Colo., without being charged. Also jailed was her husband, Joseph, 32, an $85-a-week laborer for an aviation parts manufacturing company.

The mother said Rosemary had died of unknown causes while the other children were asleep. She said she wrapped the body in a blanket and disposed of it.

Snow Storms Plague Rescue Team Efforts

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A hard freeze in the wake of a March snow storm plagued military and civilian rescue teams today in their dogged efforts to reach isolated families in North Carolina and Georgia.

Thousands more, dazed by nature's freakish series of severe weather blows to the Southland, dug their way out of drifts that piled to a height of several feet in mountainous areas of Kentucky, Tennessee, Georgia, the Carolinas and Virginia.

The giant late-winter storm headed out to sea Friday after dumping unprecedented amounts of March snow on the stricken states. It was the third big storm of the month.

The snow depth increased by eight inches in the northwestern tip of North Carolina and slowed relief teams seeking to rescue some 600 snowbound families. In some counties in the area have had more than 50 inches of snow since Feb. 11.

Helicopters, half-tracks, wensels and other military vehicles are being used in the struggle to get relief to these areas.

Some North Carolina folks were using lumber from the sides of their houses for fuel. A crew found one woman using bed slats and planks from her front porch to keep warm.

In Georgia's northern mountains center of the state's vast poultry business, the storm dumped 10 inches in some areas and drifts piled to several feet.

Reports from throughout north Georgia indicate scores of communities and thousands of farms are in serious trouble. I have no idea when the National Guard can even make tentative plans to go home," said Lt. Col. Emmett Plunkett, task force commander.

Johnson Has Version of Rights Vote

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas today interpreted the first Senate votes on civil rights legislation as showing a determination to "right wrongs without creating new wrongs."

He told newsmen he believes the Senate, which has been caught up in a Southern filibuster against civil rights measures, can now "settle down to a normal process of legislation."

"The difficulty over the years with civil rights legislation has been the fear of many people that political considerations would override good judgment," Johnson said.

"I think the votes yesterday," he added, "demonstrated that the Senate can consider this issue on the same basis as any other issue."

In a sudden burst of action Thursday, the Senate rejected 53-42 a move to limit debate and defeated 55-38 a proposal to give the attorney general broad new civil rights powers.

It also voted 89-0 to scale down the penalties proposed for interfering by force of threats with court orders for school integration.

Since these vote represented first-round victories for Southern foes of the legislation, but Johnson emphasized that under the support of a majority of the senators of both parties.

Up for action today was another amendment, offered by Sen. Frank J. Lausche (D-Ohio) that is favored by the Southerners. It would make interference with any federal court orders, rather than just those in school cases, a federal crime.

Johnson said he hoped the Senate would vote on this and possibly one or two other amendments before the day is over.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A trade magazine editor told the Southwest population of the Little Rock area will rise in the next five years but retail sales may fall off.

John H. Caldwell of New York said the sales slump was not a foregone conclusion, however. He said the challenges in the picture were to retain persons who would help the community grow at a better than average rate, and to attract "bright people from out of state who will add to your opportunity to achieve superior growth."

Wearin' of Green Time Again

By MARY ANITA LASETER

I'm not a poet, heaven knows—
(And this scribe knows it, too.)
But 'fore another week has passed
Some "fittin' words" are due.

St. Patrick's Day is near at hand
And all the Emerald Isle,
As well as Irish near and far,
Will be burstin' with a smile.

The Murphys, Kellys, McCleanahans,
And 50 other "Mc's,"
Join O'Neals, O'Bryans, 'n' O'Dells,
With O'Steens (them's the facts).

To give a "bit o' heaven" touch
To Southwest Arkansas
While all us other "foreigners"
Claim an Irish pa or ma.

You don't have to be O'Malley,
A Shannon, or a Flynn
To possess an Irish temper
Or an infectious grin.

On "their day," March 17th,
They deem it somethin' keen
To hear "Top o' the Mornin'"
Say, while wearin' Irish green.

Vows Not to Put Up With Integration

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett vowed last night that if he wins his race for governor, he will not "put up with any integration in Arkansas."

Bennett sharply criticized the administration of Gov. Orval E. Faubus and said the governor could be expected to oppose his gubernatorial bid.

So far Bennett is the only formal candidate for the governorship in this summer's Democratic primary. Faubus is considered likely to carry for an unprecedented fourth term.

The attorney general is an outspoken foe of integration and has drafted several laws aimed at restricting it.

In a speech to a civic club at suburban Ferndale, Bennett placed on Faubus the blame for Arkansas' racial troubles.

He said these difficulties were caused "because the person with the responsibility to foresee trouble did not try to slam the door until the horse got out of the barn."

Last month Bennett coined the word "de-integrate" while promising to abolish the integration which already is in effect for Arkansas.

Bennett also attacked the administration's role in financial problems at the University Medical Center here. He said the crisis could be eased if the state Welfare Department would resume sending its clients to the center.

Assignment of Missile to Report Data

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The broadest study ever undertaken in deep space got successfully under way today with the launching of a beachball-sized package of instruments orbiting around the sun. Its assignment is to report back to America on conditions between the paths of the earth and Venus.

The 90-pound, 20-inch payload was hoisted from this missile test center by a lowering three-stage Thor-Able rocket 5 seconds after 8 a.m. EST.

Three hours later in Washington scientists of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced the 165,000-pound thrust had given it speed enough to escape the earth's gravitational pull and that it had gone into orbit that will take it 74,700,000 miles from the sun at its nearest approach. Planning had been aimed at an approach within 67 million miles.

The probe, named Pioneer V, is intended to radio back data on such phenomena as radiation, magnetism and micrometeorites, from distances up to 50 million miles and, scientists hope, for decades.

The information on conditions is needed for the day when man lands on the far reaches. The communication test is a check on whether earth can keep in touch with such a man or with the unmanned satellites that will blaze the trail.

NASA officials said just after 11 a.m. that the payload had been freed from the rocket at a velocity of 24,800 miles an hour. That was 575 miles an hour above the escape velocity.

The two Negro men were arrested Feb. 18. No motive has been announced for the bombing. Trial of Monts is set for May 16. Binns will be tried June 7.

Tells U. S. Needs for Survival

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Army Col. Ernest F. Williams told the final session of a National Security Seminar today that to survive, the United States needs the vision to see, the wisdom to understand and the determination to face the problems of the world.

His speech was followed with the presentation of graduation certificates.

More than 500 military and civilian personnel attended the 10-day seminar. Matters vital to the survival of the United States were discussed at the meetings. They included Communism, defense spending and the need for collective security.

Pioneer V is the first satellite to be fired toward an orbit inside the earth's. After it falls into its endless race around the sun—its orbit will touch the earth's and swing to within about seven million miles of Venus' smaller orbit. It's "year" around the sun will be about 311 days.

The new space probe's second radio is a powerful 150-watt ultra high frequency job designed to send back to earth from as far as 50 million miles away.

Even in later years, when Pioneer V swings back that close to earth, scientists hope to be able to trigger this big radio again and establish contact. This could happen in 1963.

The 150-watt won't be turned on until the probe is about 150 million miles out, about a month from now.

Science Fair Sat., Sunday at High School

The annual Hope High School Science Fair will be held in the old gym in senior high building Saturday, March 12, from 3 to 5 p.m. and Sunday, March 13 from 1 to 5 p.m.

Students from all Hope Schools are participating with 433 students entering 274 projects.

Official Gets Big Profit on Storage

WASHINGTON (AP) — An ousted Agriculture Department official acknowledged today he had reaped a fat profit on a silent partnership in a grain storage company doing business with his department.

Carl C. Corey, former supervisor of the Portland, Ore., office of the Commodity Stabilization Service, told a Senate investigating group he had wound up with $83,250 from the silent partnership, in which he said he had invested none of his own money.

The storage company was identified as the Three State Warehouse Co. of Portland.

Corey told a special Senate agriculture subcommittee he could not recall that any of his Agriculture Department supervisors had warned him that his partnership might be in violation of federal conflict-of-interest regulations.

In fact, he added, he could not recall ever having seen annuals sent to his Portland office spelling out these regulations.

Negro in Bombing Case Makes Bond

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Bond of $15,000 was posted yesterday for Herbert Odell Monts, 17, one of two Negroes charged in the bombing of a high school student's home.

The other Negro, Maceo Antonio Binns, 31, was released on a similar bond earlier.

Monts and Binns are accused of setting off a dynamite blast at the home of Carlotta Walls, a student at integrated Central High School. Only minor damage was caused by the blast Feb. 9. No one was hurt.

The two Negro men were arrested Feb. 18. No motive has been announced for the bombing. Trial of Monts is set for May 16. Binns will be tried June 7.

Pioneer V Is 3rd Man-made to Orbit Sun

By Geoffrey Gould
WASHINGTON (AP) — Pioneer V hurtled on through the silent reaches of space today, heading for its destined place as the tiny new sister planet between Earth and Venus.

By 8 a.m. EST, 24 hours after launching, it was estimated to be about 107,150 miles from earth. By 3 p.m. this afternoon, it would cross the moon's orbit around the earth, about 232,000 miles out. Then it will plunge onward in its five-month trip to an orbit around the sun.

The 26-inch sphere is packed with cunningly miniaturized scientific instruments, already sending to earth a wealth of important new information on what it's like out there. Someday men may follow it.

Every hour or so, on command from stations on earth, one of the satellite's two radios switches on, sends back the loud, clear signal for 15 minutes, an then is switched off by a man standing back here on terra firma. This is done to conserve the sun-powered batteries.

Pioneer V is the third man-made thing to be hurled into a planet-like orbit around the sun. The brilliant success of its Thor-Able launching rocket and the evidence that everything aboard is in perfect working order gave America's beleaguered space scientists a tremendous boost in self-esteem after watching the Soviet Union's startling feats of spacecraft.

speed required to put the space probe into orbit around the sun, and within 150 miles of the planned velocity.

The Washington scientists said the rate of the new space probe would take it 14 million miles closer to the sun than the orbit of Venus. They say it would make its closest approach to the sun in its first swing around the sun about five months from now.

The scientists said that Pioneer V would take 311 days to make a complete circle around the sun.

That means the probe is in a slightly broader orbit than had been planned. The original plan envisioned an orbit requiring 295 days.

Dr. Abe Silverstein, director of space flight programs for NASA, said all the radio telemetry channels were working successfully. He called it a "very successful firing."

He said radio signals had been picked up from 8:15 a. m., 15 minutes after launching, up to 8:30 when the transmitter was shut down on command from the earth.

He said the probe was re-acquired at 9:30 and 10:30 and commanded off to conserve power at 9:45 and 10:45.

Dr. Homer E. Newell, deputy director of space flights programs, said Pioneer V would gather, from far out in the undisturbed regions of space, information much the same as that provided by satellites such as Explorer VII, which follow an orbit in that part of space disturbed by the earth's own orbit.

Girls Out of Coma After a Month

NEW YORK (AP) — After a month in a coma from sleeping sickness little Judy Ann Rawson is awake again. She's still paralyzed from the malady and can't talk—but she can smile.

She's awake, her doctor said today, because of "a miracle." It took that to make her open her eyes again, he said, because her case is so acute medical science could do nothing.

The smile is the result of something far different—the combined efforts of a newspaper, a broadcasting network, the telephone company and Judy Ann's favorite comedian, Danny Thomas.

Judy Ann, the lively 7-year-old daughter of truck driver William Rawson, fell a victim of measles several weeks ago. Then, as happens about once in 10,000 cases, she developed sleeping sickness.

A coma ensued. All anyone could do was wait, watch and hope.

Last Saturday Judy Ann's eyes flickered open as she lay in bed at Wyckoff Heights Hospital in Brooklyn. Everyone rejoiced even though she couldn't speak or move.

Thursday her physician, Dr. Anthony LaMarca, was told of her affection for Danny Thomas. The doctor told Gene Nichols, a reporter for the Long Island Press, Nichols told the Columbia Broadcasting System, which televises Thomas' shows.

CBS got in touch with Thomas in Hollywood and phoned back 30 minutes later to say Thomas wanted to speak to the girl by telephone. That couldn't be done because Judy Ann's bed is too far from a phone.

The reporter called the New York Telephone Co. Within an hour a special crew arrived and hooked up a receiver at the bedside. Moments later it rang and the earpiece was held against Judy Ann's ear.

"Hello dear," said Danny Thomas. "I want you to get well immediately. When you do you'll come out to Hollywood and be my guest. I'm glad you like our show. Next Monday night we'll be doing it just for you."

Thomas then pleaded: "Judy Ann, say something to me. Try to say goodbye."

Judy Ann's eyes filled with tears, but she could not respond. "I will pray for you to St. Jude, my patron saint. I know you will get well. Judy Ann, please tell me goodbye."

For the first time in weeks a murmur, barely audible, came from little Judy Ann's lips.

Says Sitdown Only Way Can Protest
LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Negroes are staging sitdown demonstrations because it is the only way they can protest segregation. Dr. J. H. Jackson of Chicago, president of the National Baptist (Negro) Convention, said here last night.

State to Get Hospital April 1

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army and Navy General Hospital at Hot Springs, Ark., will be turned over to the state on April 1, Army Secretary Wilber M. Brucker announced today.

The Army finally succeeded in getting Congressional approval last year for closing the 78-year-old institution. Congress agreed with the understanding that Arkansas could use it as a vocational rehabilitation center or for other public health or educational purposes.

The Army, which administered the hospital, said there was no justification for maintaining it for military purposes.

The hospital is to be used by the state for vocational rehabilitation center.

An Army spokesman said the delay in actually transferring title to the state came because of the necessity of working out details of the formal agreement.

Cuba Reportedly Buying Arms

HAVANA (AP)—Informed sources said today the Cuban government has bought a fantastic amount of arms since Prime Minister Fidel Castro took power last year.

Without giving any details, one source described the purchases as "so substantial they would surprise even the Cubans."

Europe is the primary source. The United States has placed an embargo on all arms shipments to the Caribbean in the hope of preventing further political turbulence in this area.

One of the biggest arms purchases by Cuba has been an estimated total of 25,000 automatic rifles from a Belgian company. The rifles are of a new type adopted by North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces, including the United States.

The Castro forces have more of these ultramodern infantry rifles today than does the United States," said one source here.

Attempt to Javits Rips Set a Vote

WASHINGTON (AP)—An attempt by Senate leaders to fix a time for voting later today on a civil rights bill amendment was blocked today by Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-N.Y.).

Javits was a chief sponsor of the unsuccessful move Thursday to limit all debate, and Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.) called the New Yorker's action today "an amazing reversal of form" by civil rights advocates who have accused Southern senators of filibustering to block action on the legislation.

The amendment up for action sponsored by Sen. Frank J. Lausche (D-Ohio) would make it a federal crime to interfere by threats or force with federal court orders in all types of cases.

As the administration's civil rights bill is drawn, it provides criminal penalties only for such obstruction of court orders in school desegregation cases.

Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, on behalf of himself and Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois that the Senate agree to vote on the amendment after two hours of debate.

Sen. John A. Carroll (D-Colo.) reserving the right to object, said Lausche's amendment raised a very important issue that would require "long debate."

Russell, leader of the Southern bloc of the legislation, said actually he had thought Thursday that some senators were prepared to vote on all the pending amendments without any further discussion.

Javits stepped in and then with a formal objection that blocked any unanimous agreement for a voting time on the amendment.

DOROTHY DIX

My Readers Speak Pro and Con

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am in agreement with a letter printed in your column concerning going steady and signed "Mad." I realize that a few years ago "going steady" meant a step toward an engagement.

My mother, grandmother and I had several long talks about this thing called "going steady." Today going steady means simply that a boy and girl like each other and prefer to go out with one another. Going steady can be fun. Sure some couples marry, but the majority break off.

I have gone steady myself and look back on the experience with happy memories even though I no longer like the boy. Girls don't have to be wallflowers to go steady. Some of the most popular girls I know go steady. Some older people (out of school) accept it as a part of dating and like it. Believe me, if more people understood what it means to us, it would save a lot of trouble. Please print this and I hope it does some good.—A Teen-Ager

Dear Dorothy Dix: I was extremely interested in the letter in your column a couple of days ago written by a young married woman who complained because couples in their group exchanged dances. I actually howled when I read it. It struck me so funny, but I throw a light on a sad fact which I have been trying to bring out in the open for several years, that is the utter lack of social graces at these dances of the young people these days. I have two teen-age daughters. It makes me so provoked when they go to a dance and spend the entire evening dancing with just one boy—the boy they dated for the evening. "It seems to be a sin to dance with anyone else." "It just isn't done, Mother," they tell me. Don't these young people realize they are only hurting themselves by being so limited in their social contacts? I always thought that a dance was a social function at which you met people, exchanged dances, circulated, and all the rest of it. How in the world did this "clinging to one" business ever get started? Our youngsters might as well stay at home with their date and dance to radio music all evening, just with each other. It's perfectly ridiculous. The girl who wrote you that she never danced with a boy at her husband and that she actually believes there is something immoral about dancing with anyone other than her own date, or husband, must have grown up in this age. I was glad to see you set her straight, but you were not nearly strong enough about it. I wish you would write not one but many articles calling everyone's attention to the lack of social training in your youngsters.

Before I sign off I feel compelled to mention the fact that it is also a crying shame that there is a whole generation of youngsters here who will never learn really to dance. Do they call dancing (?) the movements we see youngsters do on teen-age club programs? I notice that the same boy and same girl dance with each other over and over again. How dull!—Disappointed

This is to the woman who wrote you that any woman who would marry a divorced man should have her head examined. I am married to a divorced man and thank God for giving me this second chance.

My first marriage ended in tragedy. I had a small daughter. My present husband treats my child as his own. At 16, she knows no other father. He loves her as he loves his own two children by me. He worships the ground I walk on. In turn I love him with all my heart. I feel sorry for your writer. Her bitter attitude may be a cover-up for hurt feelings. Women want to be loved. There are many decent divorced men in this world and it isn't because they preferred it that way. Behind many—not all—was a woman who didn't live up to her marriage vows. Please print this. To me, my husband was never "second hand," he's tops!—M.J.H.

... The Golden Rule. And what a world this would be if men would only live it! There would be no more necessity for preaching and the jails could rot down. Observance of the "Golden Rule" would bring in the Age of Gold. Hillel, the Jewish lawyer, called it "the whole law." Leo Tolstoy, "discovered those clear simple truths," gave up a most successful profession and spent the rest of his life crusading for the welfare and understanding of his fellows.

"Do Unto Others," was made more Golden by the American Indian when in his memorable words, he counsels us to travel "A moon in his moccasins," before we criticize another. The Golden Rule carries the secret of a good society... A Democratic society. But don't forget the man who uttered the rule in the Gospels. That makes it different. His message includes the parable of the Good Samaritan and of the Last Judgment... feed the hungry, clothe the naked and remember the man in jail. It all boils down to a most significant question... "Will you keep it in good conscience?" In your home, your business, your social affairs, will you "DO UNTO OTHERS AS YOU WOULD BE DONE BY?"

More on the Golden Rule next week.
